Re: Del-Immune V® Web Site Revision

FAXED
2/13/2006

13 February 2006

Many thanks for providing time for your comments and suggestions on Thursday 9 February 2006. This letter was delayed by a day due to the emergency medical situation with a sister for whom I am a caretaker. A surgery on Saturday revealed extensive cancer.

It is my intention to respond to your comments and to revise the website with dispatch.

Firstly, the references to FDA have been removed from the site.

The home page will be revised with the following message pending your comments, as you suggested. After reviewing kindly contact me 303 641-7733...many thanks.

Del-Immune V® Capsules
Lactobacillus rhamnosus lysate powder
*For Immediate immune system support

Nature's way to a healthier immune system.

Our intestinal tract is home to 70% of the immune system. Lactic acid bacteria (lactobacillus) present in the intestine plays an active and important role in the regulation, development, and processing of our immune system.

Lactic acid bacteria within our intestine are digested to produce cell wall fragments that initiate the process for stimulating the body's natural immune response. The reason for this response is due to proteins and other biological substances that are contained within the cell walls (see electron microscopic views of actual cell wall fragments). The immune system does not respond to the presence of whole lactic acid bacteria until digestion occurs and cell wall fragments are produced. This is the process for the natural immune response.

Each capsule of Del-Immune V® contains 2+billion cell wall fragments of lactobacillus rhamnosus (found naturally in the intestine) to immediately and naturally launch the work of the immune system.... natures way!

Del-Immune V®, originally from Russia, is now produced in Indianapolis, Indiana by Vivolac Cultures ,Inc. Our American product is 300% more potent than the original Russian product!

The usual dosage is 1 or more capsules a day or as recommended by a health prectitioner.

* The FDA warning box will follow.

Schedule for revisions.

To be completed by Wednesday PM 15 February 2006:
The web design group will be instructed to remove existing testimonials on the home page and to replace with revised testimonials as suggested during the meeting.

To be completed by 21 February 2006:
In house literature and information will be revised to eliminate specific indications, as discussed.

To be completed asap :
Product labels are being revised and will be scheduled for production as fast as possible. In the mean time new capsule production is being suspended pending receipt of the new labels.

Is there anything that I may have missed?

Respectfully,

John A. Sichel RPh, PD
